

Notes on Walk 9th November 2019

29 people joined the circular walk in Chatham. The route went via the 'Lines and Maritime Monument', where we had a short break to view the Monument and one minutes silence in commemoration of Remembrance Sunday. We then continued to the old Royal Naval Barracks (HMS Pembroke), the dockyard, St. Mary's Island (with views of the River Medway and Upnor Castle) and the historic dockyard area.

We lunched at the Mess Deck in the Maritime Museum.

After lunch we went through the grounds of the Maritime Museum, Brompton and Fort Amherst to finish the walk, having covered a distance of approximately 9 miles.

Thanks to John Coplestone for arranging the walk and his interesting commentary.
