

Notes on Walk 11th January 2020

We met at Kensington High Street Tube Station before taking a short walk to the Design Museum for a comfort break, group photo and details of the walk. On leaving the Design Museum, we went through Holland Park to the exquisite Kyoto Gardens and on to Kensington Gardens; after taking a short break by the fountains at Lancaster Gate, we crossed Bayswater Road and continued via Paddington to the Regent's Canal walking alongside it before making a short detour to the Lord's Tavern for an excellent lunch.

After lunch we retraced our steps back to the Regent's Canal and followed the tow path to Primrose Hill where we were able to admire the views over London. We then walked through Regent's Park to finish the walk at Baker Street Station.

A total of 44 people took part in the walk.

Thanks to Stephen and Rosemary Au-Yeung for arranging such an interesting walk and making the arrangements at the Lord's Tavern for lunch.
